

JASON L. SETO

August 10, 2017

Siddharth Balwani
Product Management, Uber Inc.
555 Market St
San Francisco, CA 94105

Siddharth (Sid) Balwani,

Thank you for taking time out of your schedule to meet with me remotely from Palo Alto.

I really enjoyed brainstorming about the various ways the Service could work to tackle phone-phishing scams—it's a topic that routinely stumps (and angers) analysts and investigators within the agency.

I have a few friends in the Treasury Investigator Generals Office (the group that generally handles IRS Phone scams), and I'm sure they'd love to hear some of the brainstorming ideas we came up with. Let me know if you'd ever be interested in pursuing some type of public-private partnership.

Lastly, I work regularly with product managers in my current role and see first-hand some of the extensive demands on their schedules, which makes the time you carved out to talk with me today all the more meaningful.

I look forward to the opportunity to collaborate with you again in the future.

Thank you again,

Jason L. Seto

Jason L. Seto