David DyTang,

I really appreciate you taking time this past Wednesday to interview me.

You posed many great, thought-provoking questions throughout the interview, and it was a pleasure being able to discuss my background and experiences.

Additionally, I really enjoyed learning about the diverse problem space your team faces within incentive fraud on a regular basis, and the level of autonomy you have to shape and define the solutions to address those issues. These are components about the company I'd read extensively about, and it was fantastic to hear the exact sentiment directly from a member of the team I may have the opportunity to work with.

I look forward to an opportunity for us to collaborate together in the future.

Sincerely,

Jason L. Seto
